Temporary Protected Status Designated Country: Venezuela

i ALERT: After reviewing country conditions and consulting with the appropriate U.S. government agencies, Secretary of Homeland Security Kristi Noem determined that Venezuela no longer meets the conditions for its designation for Temporary Protected Status (TPS), and that the termination of the 2023 Venezuela TPS designation is required as it is contrary to the national interest. However, on Sept. 5, 2025, a single judge in the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of California issued a final order setting aside Secretary Noem's decision and allowed the 2023 TPS designation of Venezuela to continue. The judge did so even though the Department of Homeland Security previously prevailed in the same case in the U.S. Supreme Court, in a 8-1 decision. The Department of Homeland Security vehemently disagrees with the Northern District of California's ruling and is pursuing immediate relief.

Separately, Secretary Noem published her determination to terminate the Venezuela 2021 designation, which is effective on Nov. 7, 2025, at 11:59 p.m. See Termination of the 2021 Designation of Venezuela for Temporary Protected Status, 90 Fed. Reg. 43225 (Sept. 8, 2025).
